IMPACT
 2818

Love God Love Self Love Others Pursue

This sums up Impact 2818's discipleship pathway quite well. In age-appropriate ways, through biblical teachings, this is the emphasis of camp for every camper. The goal is that we would first know that God, our Creator, loves and seeks us. If the creator of the universe has found us uniquely worthy, then so should we. Jesus teaches grace, mercy, and care for others. He invites us all to follow and walk in this path. Campers learn spiritual disciplines (scripture reading, prayer, worship, community, etc.) that will help them continue a lifetime of growth in pursuit of God and others.

Today's children and youth have been wired to be consumers. Instead, they need more free exploration, discovery spaces, skill development interactions, and interpersonal character identification times. At Impact 2818, we specifically focus our efforts and available time on helping campers to build relationships, learn to compromise, work in groups, overcome difficulties, and excel in social situations.

Strengthening Social Skills

Everything at camp has significance and value in helping your child to uncover their unique identity and independence. Family-style meals model dinner time discussions, healthy choices, and manners. Activities like tag and paintball help to teach integrity, honesty, and sportsmanship. Adventures like the ropes courses encourage campers to find victory in trials, celebrate others, and assist and support others. Camp isn't just a bunch of activities or attractions; it's a space that uses those moments to foster growth.

Uncovering Character

Owning Personal Responsibility

Our teams of counselors and staff help to provide age-appropriate support as needed for campers in performing their own hygiene, personal care, and readiness. Campers are actively involved in their experiences. They assist with table preparation and clean up at meal times. They help to keep their cabins and bunk spaces clean. And, they take responsibility in not just their belongings and spaces but for their words and actions as well.
